GREEN RIVER ASSOCIATION

Of the A. S. of E. and County Union

To Be Held in Ohio County Early in January of Year 1910.

Hartford and Ohio county are to have two important equity meetings in the near future. The Green River District Tobacco Growers Association of the A. S. of E. will meet at Hartford, Thursday, January 6, 1910. This is the first time within the history of the association that it has been held in Ohio county. The district is composed of Ohio, McLean, Davless, Hancock, Muhlenburg and Breckenridge counties and a county or two in Indiana and meetings of the Association have heretofore been held at Owensboro.

There being a larger number of loyal equity people in Ohio county than in probably all of the other counties combined, it was urged by representatives from this county at the last meeting at Owensboro that the next regular meeting be held with us and after considerable effort was landed for Ohio county.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Ohio County A. S. of E. will be held Friday and Saturday, January 7, and 8, 1910. The constitution and by-laws provide that the regular meetings shall be held the first Friday and Saturday in January, April, July and October, and as the first day of January this year is Saturday the meeting will fall on the following Friday and Saturday which will be the 7th and 8th as before stated.

These meetings are important especially to tobacco growers as arrangements will be begun at that time for the pooling of the 1910 crop of tobacco. Pooling pledges for the crop will be ready for distribution and circulation among Ohio County Equity people. Every local in Ohio county should send delegates to this meeting so that the pledges may be sent out by them and so that they may be thoroughly acquainted with the plans for the 1910 campaign for tobacco pooling.

The official call for the district meeting is as follows:

The regular quarterly meeting of the Green River Tobacco Growers Association, branch of the A. S. of E., will meet in Hartford, Ky., on Thursday, January 6th, at 10 a. m. Representatives to this meeting provided by the Constitution and by-laws is one delegate from each local union A. S. of E. in the Green River District, composed of the counties of Davless, Hancock, McLean, Ohio and Breckenridge, Kentucky, and Spencer and Warwick counties Indiana. We urge a full attendance at this meeting as matters of vital importance will come before us at that time, such as election of officers, consideration of acreage pledge, and also pooling pledge. Signed,

J. R. WELLER, Pres.

The Living Cross.

McHenry, Ky., Dec. 4.—This entire community has been stirred the past few weeks by the work on the Crucifixion of Christ at the M. E. church at this place. An illustrated service of song called "The Living Cross" was given in the church, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, Nov. 30 to Dec. 3, inclusive. It was the most impressive service ever held in this part of the county. About eighty-five young people and children were drilled to sing and act the scenes on calvary at the crucifixion. Rev. Herbert E. Fort, of Chicago, who is the author of the work had charge of the series of meetings which followed a months revival at the same church. The parade on Saturday the 27th, which followed the photographing of the entire force in several positions covered a distance of over two miles and great crowds lined the route of march after the services of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. A great supper free to all Living Cross members their families and friends, was served in the church Friday night. A table over fifty feet long and built the shape of a cross was covered with everything good to eat and the Living Cross marched into the church and took their positions after two other tables the length of the building were filled for the friends of T. L. C. then a photograph of the tables, and Rock of Ages tableau was taken. A very impressive farewell service followed the supper. The pastor and T. L. C. Commander had to mount the tables to preach and make their farewell addresses, so crowded was the house Saturday. The Living Cross met at the church at 10 o'clock attended to some official business then marched to the depot and held another farewell service. Rev. Fort left on the noon train for his next appointment at Shilo.

Hartford House to Open the 20th, Inst.

Considerable inquiry has been made of us as to whether the tobacco warehouse at Hartford would be opened for the receipt of tobacco Monday, December 20th, as the buyer agrees to do and as heretofore announced. We have conferred with several members of the Finance Committee and they inform us that the house will be opened on that date for the receipt of tobacco.

CARRIE DOING SOME MORE STUNTS.

Mrs. Nation Invades House and After Wild Rampage is Ejected.

Washington, Dec. 15.—"You ought not to smoke," admonished Carrie Nation to a doorkeeper, as she entered the gallery of the House of Representatives to-day. The doorkeeper just laughed. In one of the corridors adjoining the House chamber, a messenger was smoking a cigarette. Bliff, went a blow from Carrie Nation's right arm and the cigarette shot into the air.

Mrs. Nation played no favorites, but made a general round of the Capitol. In the Supreme Court she spent a quiet quarter of an hour listening to legal arguments.

In the House office building she meandered around and talked to a member or two and up on the gallery floor of the House she had business with the Interstate Commerce Committee under the impression that it was the Senate committee considering an anti-gambling bill.

Chairman Mann, of the committee, who did not know her identity, put her on the track of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary, where the hearing on Senator Burkett's anti-race track betting bill was held yesterday.

Arriving too late, she started in search of Senator Clark, of Arkansas, who she said, would father her prohibition bill, because she had become a citizen of his State. In the Senate office building Carrie started to barge the crowd from interior steps and was escorted outside by the Capitol police.

Pet Wolf Attacks Girl.

Owensboro, Ky., Dec. 13.—The call of the wild was too strong for a pet wolf to resist to-day and he made his escape at the home of Reuben Masters and dashed into the house and was springing at the throat of a young girl when Mr. Masters buried himself between his daughter and the enraged animal. The teeth of the enraged animal closed on the man's arm. With his free hand he grabbed the wolf by the throat and the two went to the floor in a struggle. The wolf was finally choked to such an extent that he released his hold on Mr. Masters' arm.

A neighbor ran in with a hammer and killed the wolf while Mr. Masters held it. It was sent to him from Idaho a year ago and had always been perfectly gentle. He has thirteen wounds. He has thirteen wounds on his arm. Many of them to the bone.

Postoffice at Reynolds Robbed.

DISCHARGED MACEO OPERATOR.

Said to Have Furnished Information

Leading to the Indictment of the L. H. and St. L. Railroad Co.

Maceo, Davless county, is assuming more and more importance in the affairs of the world at large. It is now stated on some apparent authority that the general prosperity of Maceo and the lack of vacant houses therein was the original cause of the recent indictment against the L. H. and St. L. railroad for rebating. In that event residents of Maceo are even with the railroad for trying to force the name of Power's Station upon them and leaving them for many months living in either Maceo or Power's station, as the fancy suggested, and in the unpleasant attitude of not knowing where they were going even after they had almost gotten there.

A few months ago a young man was sent from Louisville to Maceo to take charge of the ticket office there and be telegraph operator. This young man had been in the Louisville offices of the company and it was stated that he had been assigned to Maceo for a rest and expected the work to be in the nature of a vacation. He took up his work with enthusiasm, but had trouble finding quarters for himself and was utterly unable to locate his family, either in a vacant house or a boarding house.

Despairing of better quarters the railroad was asked to switch off an unused box car on a disconnected spur of track for the operator and his family to live in. For some reason this was not done and the operator was offended. He is said to have wired the company that unless a new man was on the ground by a certain date the office would be found locked up. The new man came and the homesick operator went back to his family in Louisville, getting employment with the K. and I. Bridge company there. Within a few weeks he lost his position without knowing just why, it is stated.

Taking up the idea that he had been "queered" by his former employers the offended operator had an interview with some of the officials and told them that they would suffer for the mistreatment accorded him. The threats were considered idle ones until the federal grand jury got busy a few days ago and indicted the railroad and L. J. Irwin, its President for accepting rebates. It is now said by some employees of the railroad that the sore operator is at the bottom of the information which lead to the indictments. It may all be an attempt to trace the indictments to spite work, but their story is nevertheless interesting. The truth can not be known until after the hearings.

TARDY MAIL RECEIVED AT MAYFIELD OFFICE

Written by Ike Adair, of Fordsville Now Dead Two Years, To Mayfield Man.

Mayfield, Ky., Dec. 13.—A peculiar incident occurred to R. D. Robertson this week when he received an answer to a letter that he wrote over four years ago. In September, 1905 he wrote a business letter to Ike Adair, Fordville, Ky., and the latter answered the letter immediately, but the letter did not reach its destination until this week.

Mr. Adair died two years ago and when Mr. Robertson received a letter a few days ago it was certainly a shock to him, as the letter was mailed, as the postmark showed, on Sept. 30, 1905, but with last Thursday's date on the back, showing that it had just reached the Mayfield office.

The question is, where has this letter been all these four years?

REWARD OFFERED FOR MISSING GIRL.

Total of $3,000 For Finding of Alma Kellner.

If Louisville Child is Still Alive, Abductors Have Made No Move.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 15.—The city council, in special session to-night, passed an ordinance offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the recovery of Alma Kellner, Mayor Head immediately signed it. Earlier in the day Governor Wilson offered $500, John Whallen offered $500 and Frank Fehr, on behalf of the girl's father, offered $1,000, making a total of $3,000.

Statements of the police and finally indicate a complete breakdown of all possible clues and went far toward disproving the rumors that the kidnappers are known to the family or police.

If the child is still alive the abductors have made no move and the police have no inkling as to their identity or her whereabouts.

Alma Kellner has been missing a week, not having been seen since 10 o'clock last Wednesday morning. Every possible clue has been followed, with always the same result, failure.

The police and detectives have worked constantly on the case, but have been unable to find anything that will throw any light on the whereabouts of the little child.

The reward offered now will, it is hoped, stimulate the officers in other cities to be constantly on the alert for some development in the case.

The Louisville police would not be allowed to accept the reward should they succeed in finding the child, but should any clue be found by police in other cities, the $3,000 reward offered would be a big incentive to exert every energy in the endeavor to find the little girl.

Mrs. Kellner has received many letters of sympathy because of her deep sorrow.

Revenue Commissioner's Ruling

Representatives of dealers in leaf tobacco in Kentucky and Tennessee recently appeared before the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to obtain from him an official distinction between a dealer in leaf tobacco and a retail dealer in leaf tobacco. Many believed that the section of the Payne bill would give to the dealer in leaf tobacco certain privileges enjoyed by the retail dealer. The commissioner has decided that a "dealer" is not authorized to sell to a retail dealer. The law provides that dealers shall sell only to other dealers and to manufacturers of tobacco, snuff or cigars, and to those who are purchasers of leaf tobacco for export.

A retail dealer may sell to another retail dealer in leaf tobacco, raised or grown in the United States in its condition as cured on the farm, in the hand and not manufactured in any way. He may also sell such tobacco to any person, except to manufacturers of tobacco, snuff, cigars and cigarettes, dealers in leaf tobacco and persons who purchase leaf tobacco in the original packages for export.

The commissioner holds that the business of the two can not be blended and can not even be carried on the same premises.

Ladies Have Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Chas. E. Rogers and daughter, Dorothy, and Mrs. Laura Garth had a narrow escape from serious injury while out driving Wednesday afternoon. When near the Vanderh't Training School, the horse shied suddenly at a team of oxen, and the buggy was overturned, all three of the occupants being thrown to the ground, and Mrs. Rogers sustaining quite a painful sprained ankle. Mrs. Garth and Dorothy Rogers were not injured. Fortunately the horse did not run after overturning the vehicle, which probably accounts for the fact that the accident did not prove of a more serious nature.—[Elkton Times.]

JAS. H. PARISH MUST DO TIME.

Lower Court Affirmed By Highest Court.

Still Maintains Innocence But Turns Pale When Told of Decision.

The Court of Appeals last Thursday decided that James H. Parrish must serve five years in the penitentiary for wrecking the Owensboro Savings Bank and Trust Company of which he was president.

The case was before the court on appeal from the Hancock Circuit Court, where it was tried on a charge of larceny. Judge Hobson and Barker dissented.

Judge Hobson filed a dissenting opinion in the case.

Parrish was indicted for assisting to the receiving of a deposit by the bank after he had knowledge of its insolvency.

The testimony on the trial disclosed that all the assets and property of the bank when converted into money would not pay its depositors more than fifteen cents on the dollar and that it was hopelessly insolvent when the deposit was received.

Discussing the question raised of Parrish's knowledge of the bank's insolvency, the court says: "There can be no doubt from the facts that the position, relation, authority and direction of Parrish to the condition under investigation and his personal immediate opportunities of knowledge respecting them afforded him such knowledge of the insolvency of the bank as was essential under the law to convict him of the evil intent of knowingly receiving deposits when reached the conclusion that the accused had a fair trial."

The court concludes: "We have considered this case with great care in view of its importance to the banking interests of the State as well as to the depositing public and have that the accused had a fair trial."

"It is true that some minor errors were committed by the trial court. They appear in every hotly-contested case, but upon the whole no substantial injustice was done. We have more than once announced that it is not every error that will authorize a reversal."

"The statute under which appellant was convicted was enacted for the protection and security of depositors, who composed a large part of our people, who must and do depend for the safety of their deposits upon the honesty, prudence and business integrity of the officers of the banks in which they have placed them. As a result, they have no means or opportunity of knowing except from acts and information furnished by an officer whether the bank in which the deposit is made is solvent or not, and when those officers have the confidence of the public can by keeping open doors hold themselves out as solvent and responsible they should be held to a strict accountability for wrong doing."

In his dissenting opinion, concurred in by Judge Barker, Judge Hobson says that the lower court erred to the prejudice of defendant Parrish in its instruction to the jury on the point of Parrish's knowledge of the insolvency of the bank.

PARRISH TURNS PALE.
Hawesville, Ky.—The Times correspondent was the first to tell Banker Jas. H. Parrish of the decision of the Court of Appeals affirming his five-year sentence in the penitentiary. He said:

"I can't understand it. I am not guilty. I am not even technically guilty. I could not believe or know the bank was insolvent. It was my baby and I nurtured it. I could not believe it involved, and it was not until my fine $25,000 bank building was sold for $29,000 and all other property was sacrificed. This news changes nothing. I have said the will of God was in the case and believe firmly in this yet. All will be for the better, but I still hope this cannot be true. I was to have gotten the news first through my attorney, E. E. Kelly."

The prisoner has grown in flesh while in prison, and his color has improved, but this news turned him deathly pale. He sent for his wife at once.

NEWS AT OWENSBORO.
Owensboro, Ky.—News of the Court of Appeals having affirmed the five-year sentence given James H. Parrish, president of the defunct Owensboro Savings Bank & Trust Company, in the Hancock Circuit Court, was received here today shortly before noon. Those near the Parrish family said that the last vestige of hope had been shattered, but refused to take any further statements.

The news was received in some quarters of the city with great rejoicing while in other sections of the city the news cast a gloom over entire families. It is realized in business circles of the city that it is a sad ending for one who for years headed one of the largest banking institutions in the city. Even those losing money in the bank feel sorrow for the family of the bank wrecked. Those deeply interested in the case have been waiting for days for a decision of the Court of Appeals. Commonwealth Attorney Ben D. Ringo, now in Hawesville, stated that it was just what he expected and was nothing more than Parrish deserved.

SHUDDERS AT THE THOUGHT

Owensboro Man Came Near Being Resident of "House of Mystery."

In this day when practically every city in Kentucky and many in other states are claiming to have once been the abiding place of someone connected with the mysterious death of Mrs. Okey Wardlaw Martin Sneed in a bathtub at East Orange, N. J., Owensboro, though not an abiding place, can produce persons as deeply interested as any other city has. One of those especially interested is C. H. Jacobs, local superintendent of the Cumberland Telephone company.

The interest of Mr. Jacobs in the Sneed murder case dates from his boyhood days in Murfreesboro, Tenn., when the Wardlaws, the woman who under arrest no murder charge, had her brother, conducted Soule college near the home of Mr. Jacobs' parents. Mr. Jacobs' sister was a student in the school while it was in the hands of the Wardlaws. Finally there were some girl pupils slipped out of school and whether or not the proprietors had advance knowledge of the plans of the abductors, the escapades didn't help their reputation and they eventually gave up their control.

When Mr. Jacobs became connected with the Cumberland Telephone company and was at the home office in Nashville, several years after he had known the Wardlaws now under arrest for having starved and drowned Mrs. Sneed, came on two or three occasions to see him about taking some rooms of which she had the disposal. Had not he formed and early dislike to the entire Wardlaw family which conducted the hotel "House of mystery." However, he is of the opinion that at his present weight he would be hard to starve.

The father of Mrs. Sneed, victim of the bathtub murder, was also a resident of Murfreesboro for some time, and it was previous to his residence there that he lived in several Kentucky cities. At that time Mrs. Sneed was a rather heavy person instead of an emaciated one, as she was found to be after death.—Owensboro Inquirer.

KILL MEN AND BEASTS.

Fierce Mexican Pigs Travel
in Drovers.

Absolutely Fearless When Making Attack on Prey.

In one of his journeys into Mexico Edward W. Walton, a mining expert had a close call from being sliced to shreds by the fierce little South American pigs known as peccaries. He told the story of his escape to a Denver Post reporter.

"I wished to secure some plumes from a number of the beautifully plumaged birds," said Mr. Walton. "I went into the jungle and came to a small opening in which there were dry leaves, probably a foot in depth covering the ground, and beautifully colored tropical birds in the air and in the trees. I fired at one of the birds in flight, when it seemed to me the whole area of these dead leaves arose in front and all around me. Being a stranger, naturally I was much frightened, especially when I saw the animals which raised up the leaves apparently ready for an attack. The older animals opened and closed their mouths, showing their big, sharp tusks formed very much like a dirk knife, and some of them started toward me. Impulsively I began firing my gun in the air, turned around, which seemed to stop most of them momentarily, and as I had lots of cartridges I kept up the shooting and they turned and ran away. I found afterward that I had saved my life by so doing, and by not shooting any of the animals."

"These animals proved to be the peccaries, the same species as are in the inclosures at the city park. They are most ferocious, and will attack an animal in existence on the slightest provocation. When I got back to headquarters and told my companions my experience I was informed that had I shot one of the animals and made him squeal the whole bunch would have torn me to pieces quickly. They have been known to kill bear, jaguars, cattle, horses and any number of dogs. Although in the fight scores of their number might be killed, they seem to have no fear when once aroused."

"I was told that peccaries burrow under the dry leaves to protect themselves from mosquitoes and other winged pests of that hot country. My friends had many exciting experiences to tell in regard to these ferocious little animals. One of this party, while travelling with a companion in a wagon, stopped for luncheon under some trees and turned their horses out to graze. While at luncheon a large bunch of peccaries appeared, and the party thought it would be nice to shoot among them and get one or two for meat, so they fired into them wounding several, which began to squeal. Then the whole bunch made an attack. The men climbed quickly into the wagon, and kept on shooting as long as their ammunition, which they had in their pockets, lasted. As they were opening their bags to get more ammunition, the peccaries climbed up the tongue of the wagon and jumped into it, and the men only saved themselves by jumping onto the trees, the peccaries taking possession of the wagon and tearing things to pieces. They remained in possession for hours, the men watching their safety in the trees."

The peccary, or South American wild boar, is the smallest of his species, averaging about three feet long nor is the animal possessed of any unusual degree of strength. To make up for this natural individual deficiency in combat with more powerful animals of the jungle, the peccaries always travel in large herds. When once attacked by a herd of peccaries the outcome is nearly always death to their enemy. The little pigs are armed with short, sharp tusks, and no matter how great the slaughter of their own number during the melee, the herd stay on the job until the work is finished.

Travelers in tropical and South American countries tell of fierce encounters between the peccaries and the jaguar, the monster cat which is lord of the forest. The jaguar has a fondness for a dinner of pork, but a wholesome respect for the power of a herd of wild pigs. When he wants to satisfy his cravings for a pork diet he drops from a limb of a tree onto the back of a straggler in the peccary herd. The jaguar slays his victims and then retreats hastily to his tree before the herd can get at him. When the herd grows tired of waiting for him to come down and moves along, the jaguar descends and enjoys his meal at leisure. Edmund Selous, in his romance of the animal world, has an interesting account of a fight between a jaguar and a herd of peccaries. The peccaries had the jaguar treed on a limb of a tree from which the bark had rotted away. He was only a few feet above them, and by harassing and jumping at their enemy, they finally succeeded in bringing the conflict to the ground. After the fight was over there were eleven killed and wounded peccaries, but the jaguar was literally torn to pieces.

PEARY PASSES THROUGH OWENSBORO

Enroute to Saint Louis as the Guest of Population
Club.

Unlike the knights of old—bears and attended by pomp and pageantry, and accompanied by many servants—Commander Peary, one of the claimants to the honor of discovering the north pole, has traversed this state from one end to the other, in a crowded day coach, making himself so very insignificant that he is noticed no more than the ordinary traveler, although he is one of the men in the public eye. Even refusing to grant interviews, which would give him publicity in the smaller villages and cities, Peary makes his way to his destination without disclosing his identity except when it becomes necessary.

Most of Owensboro's citizens would have believed they were being handed a gold brick if a friend had informed them several days ago that Commander Peary had passed through Owensboro in an ordinary day coach, and passed the "garden spot" of the world without even giving the people at the depot a glimpse of him, but this has been proven to be the fact, and now how in the world it occurred, as they claim to always be on the lookout and especially for such distinguished persons as Peary.

It has recently developed that Peary passed through Owensboro on a west bound Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis train en route to St. Louis, where he was entertained by the St. Louis Million Population Club.

Peary seems to have slipped through the entire state without being noticed, and was not interviewed. In fact, he almost succeeded in making his entire trip to St. Louis without being stopped by anyone who knew him.—Owensboro Inquirer.

Old Soldiers Turned Down.

If any old soldier was urged to vote for Thomas Marshall for Governor of Indiana, it will be of interest to that old soldier to know how Gov. Marshall is showing his love for the Civil War veterans. The Democratic Governor had a chance to demonstrate his friendship. How did he do it? By appointing two young Democrats in the places of Adj. Gen. Perry and Q. M. Gen. George W. Powell. The retiring officers are Civil War men of fine records. Gov. Marshall was asked to consider Democratic veterans. He named other men. This is not to reflect on the new members of the governor's military staff. But a Republican governor in all likelihood, would have considered a fine precedent, set by Republicans, and would have appointed old soldiers to be adjutant general and quartermaster general of the state of Indiana. We can think of no adequate reason for ignoring the Civil War veterans when it is possible to show appreciation for the services he so freely gave when that service was badly needed.

PREDICTS RAIN WITH CERTAINTY.

Does a Captured Wild Goose
on Henry Williams
Place.

We have heard a good deal about the goose bone telling what kind of weather was coming along, but Mr. Henry Williams, a farmer near St. John has a wild goose which even beats the signal service in the prediction of rain. The Signal Service misses it some time but this wild goose never does. He is absolutely infallible on the rain proposition. Mr. Williams captured this wild goose about eight years ago by breaking its wing. It has since gone with his domestic geese and seems to have forgotten all about former wild instincts. Mr. Williams noticed that a number of times the goose made a peculiar noise, that he never made any other time except just before rain. He took to observing it very closely and in the eight years this wild goose has never failed to make this peculiar noise from six to twelve hours before rain and never made it at any other time. Mr. Williams never leaves home in the morning when this goose gives his rain signal and knows he is absolutely safe from a storm if the bird does not make any noise. The goose has the unfailing natural instinct of approaching bad weather which the domestic goose has lost and Mr. Williams depends upon the bird for weather signals just as he looks at his clock to tell what time of day it is. It is unnecessary to say that Mr. Williams never reads the weather forecast in the newspaper unless it is to observe how much more accurate his goose is in predicting rain.—Elizabethtown News.

473 BANKS UNDER STATE SUPERVISION.

Report of Sec. Bruner Forms Convincing Argument

In Favor of Better Methods of Protecting Depositors in State Institutions.

No more convincing arguments in favor of the passage of a new system of regulations for the State banking institutions of Kentucky could be produced than are contained in some very interesting statistics gathered by Ben L. Bruner, who, as Secretary of State, now has general supervision of the banks.

Dr. Bruner has prepared a bill which is to be introduced in the Legislature and which provides for supervision of banks by competent examiners. As the State Bankers' Association favors more rigid examination and has a committee at work on the subject, it seems probable that a new system will be put into effect.

Secretary Bruner has just completed a report on the number of State banks and their resources, and it is an impressive document. In the first place, there are altogether 473 institutions which fall under the supervision of the State and into the jurisdiction of the laws. Of these 427 are State banks, thirty-three are combined banks and trust companies, and thirteen are trust companies.

The capital stock of these 473 banking houses is nearly $20,000,000—$19,860,373 to be exact—and their surplus and undivided profits aggregate $8,031,172.59 additional, making their total resources nearly $28,000,000. Still more impressive is the statement of deposits of these institutions, which reach sixty-six and a half millions, while their loans and discounts amount to seventy-two millions.

When one considers the vast number of people who are interested in holding stock in them or depositing their earnings and savings in them it is evident that the State should provide some better protection than the mere receiving of reports at infrequent intervals. And even this, as Secretary Bruner pointed out some time ago, was not always attended to by a few of the banks, who regarded making reports as so perfunctory and useless a duty that they nearly forgot to perform it at all.

There is another side of the shield, however, and that is the fact that Kentucky is developing remarkably commercially. Surely there would be no need of the 473 State banking institutions, not to mention the many national banks, if the demands of the time were not for capital with which to develop the State's undoubtedly splendid resources. And the banks themselves are not to blame for the lack of supervision which the State has placed over them; rather are they to be congratulated that with so little evidence of objectionable practices.

The recent decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of former President Parrish, of the Owensboro Savings Bank and Trust Company, who must serve five years because a jury found him guilty of having knowingly received deposits into an insolvent bank, indicated a condition that probably would not have come about had better examination laws been in effect. If an examiner had come upon the scene at the proper time, he would doubtless have discovered the bank's condition, closed its doors and saved not only the depositors but also the officers and stockholders of the institution itself.

SPECIAL TERM OF COURT WILL BE CALLED

Hawesville, Ky., Dec. 6.—Circuit court convened here today and will be in session for several days. It has developed here that a special term of court will be called to convene in Hawesville in January for the purpose of trying the indictments against Isaac N. and J. Otis Parrish, former officials of the Owensboro Savings bank and Trust company. Otis Parrish is charged with false swearing and Isaac Parrish is charged with embezzlement. Otis Parrish is in San Antonio, Tex., and Isaac is located in Lexington, Ky.

INVOKES UNWRITTEN LAW.

Found Another Man in Room with His Wife.

Ohio County Man Fires Six Shots, One Striking Alleged Home Despoiler.

The Louisville Times says: W. C. Ramsey, aged thirty-seven years, of 1622 West Walnut street, is in a serious condition at the City Hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the head just over the left eye, which was inflicted by Aurelie Keeton, aged twenty-three years, a conductor in the employ of the Louisville Railway Company, shortly after 7:30 o'clock last night, at Keeton's home, at 908 West Market street. Keeton was arrested immediately after the shooting by Lieut. Rees and Patrolman Miller and Lotz, and a charge of malicious shooting was placed against him.

Keeton pleads the "unwritten law," and persons in the house where the shooting occurred back him up in his statements. Keeton said that when he went to his room he found Ramsey in the room with his wife, and he fired six shots at him. He also snapped another revolver four times more, but the other four cartridges failed to explode. Keeton had two revolvers with him when he was brought to Central Police Station, and turned over to the officers.

According to Keeton's statements his wife and Ramsey have been intimate for some time, and as soon as Lieut. Rees learned this he ordered Aurelie Keeton, the man's wife, and Jesse Hockensmith, the woman who conducts the house arrested. The former was charged with disorderly conduct, and the latter with keeping a disorderly house.

Keeton told the following story of the shooting: "I left my rooms at 4:10 o'clock in the afternoon to go to my work at the Portland avenue car barns. A short while later my wife telephoned the barn foreman and asked him what time I would get off, and he told her about midnight. When I heard of her telephoning I laid off at 6:34 o'clock and went back to my rooms to see what was going on.

"I had suspected something and had taken the two revolvers from my pocket. The door was locked, and when my wife opened it I saw Ramsey trying to cover himself with a curtain. I fired at him and he started at me with a chair, and then I kept on snapping the revolver."

Keeton said that he had frequently ordered Ramsey to stay away from his wife, claiming his attentions to her caused a separation between them last summer. Mrs. Hockensmith also said that she ordered Ramsey to keep away from the woman.

The shooting occurred in the same house in which Mrs. Hockensmith's husband shot and killed S. J. Moore, last summer. Mrs. Hockensmith has been divorced from her husband since a short while after the shooting.

Ramsey was formerly on the police force, and was also a street car conductor. He had known Mrs. Keeton all of his life having been raised near her home at Leitchfield, Ky. Keeton is a native of Ohio county, and has been married to his wife two years, during which time he has lived in this city.

All of the cases were continued until Dec. 23 in Police Court.

In Memory.

Of Mrs. Viola Burgess who departed this life Dec. 5, 1909. She was a daughter of J. W. Hocker "deceased" and was highly respected by all who knew her. She took sick at her home at Beaver Dam where she lingered helplessly for some time, supposed to be heart trouble but her nerves became so afflicted the Dr. advised her to be removed to Hopkinsville where better care and attention should be given and here she remained until her death.

She leaves two sisters, three brothers, five children and a host of friends and relatives to mourn her loss.

Weep not dear loved ones for the loss is our gain. We can only strive to meet her in that great beyond where parting will be no more. It is God's will not ours, that he has taken from us our dear mother, sister and aunt. She can never come back to us but we can go to her if it be our choice, and when the pearly gates unfold, may we be able to meet her where pain, sickness and sorrow shall be no more, but everlasting joy and happiness.

The remains of Mrs. Burgess were taken to Providence for burial, where she had been a faithful member of the church for many years.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 17.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce Hon. Ben Johnston a candidate for re-election to the office of Representative in Congress from the Fourth Kentucky District, subject to the Democratic primary election to be held March 12, 1910.

President Taft seems to have a very good rein on his congressional team of wild horses.

HRADLYPNUPRIDUI 9nuquupj-unpju

Poor Old Kentucky is never out of trouble. The tobacco situation has somewhat improved, but the State Legislature is about to meet.

We hope that the resolution which has been introduced in Congress to inquire into Telegraph and Telephone conditions in the United States will be speedily passed and that we will have a sure enough inquiry.

Uncle Joe Cannon hurls defiance at his enemies and in effect tells them that he will not vacate, and that if they want his scalp they must come and get it. The insurgents do not seem to be anxious to venture into range of the Cannon.

In view of the value which Adj.
General Johnston places on the cane which he smashed over the head of editor Goode, we suggest that it is no more than fair that he should have credit for its value out of the $100 fine which Governor Willson has imposed upon him.

Congress might inquire into the present express charges which are being collected by various express companies in the United States. The people are being bled more by these gigantic concerns than by all trusts combined. However it is not so noticeable and hence it has gone on from year to year with only an occasional protest.

We have always believed that the law was intended for every citizen alike, be he poor, rich, intelligent or ignorant. It is possible that we may have been mistaken in our views concerning this. Recent developments would seem to indicate as much.
In Kentucky it looks as though the law was primarily intended to be obeyed simply by the common people.

In this issue will be found the announcement of Honorable Ben Johnston as a candidate for Congress before the Democratic primary which has been called for March 12, 1910. As yet Mr. Johnston has no opposition and it is not probable that he will have. He has made a good representative in Congress and is solid with members of his party. At present he is the most prominently mentioned candidate for governorship on that ticket at the coming state election, and it is thought that he will receive the nomination without much trouble.

On Friday, December 31st, the Louisville Times will issue an enlarged edition commemorating its twenty-fifth anniversary. The Times has been working on this paper for months and it promises to be something which will be a pride to the entire State. The paper will consist of one hundred pages with eight hundred or more columns of matter which will be illustrated throughout with hundreds of half tone pictures. Each paper will weigh two pounds. It will touch upon almost every important epoch in Kentucky for the past twenty-five years. The white paper alone used in each paper will be worth about five cents, but the price of the paper will not be raised above the usual two cents per copy, except an addition of three cents for mailing direct to those who may order.

In their annual report to the Governor, the State Prison Commissioners among other things recommend that provision be made for the payment of at least part of the earnings of the prisoners in the penitentiaries to their families. This recommendation should by all means be adopted by the legislature. Often the punishment inflicted upon violators of the law in felony cases is more of a hardship upon aged parents, or wives and children, than upon the culprit himself.
Leaving them as it often does without support to suffer, and possibly become a charge upon the county or State.

The best way for our merchants to prevent their customers from sending to Sears & Roebuck and other mail order houses for goods is to advertise their wares in the country newspapers. This should not be done spasmodically, but systematically each week in the year. An ad.

constantly kept before the readers is worth much more according to the space which it occupies than the one which appears only two or three times a year. We have heretofore had somewhat to say in defense of our home merchants as against the foreign merchant and we take the liberty now to point out some of the means by which our local people may counteract the influence of the foreign mail order house which is being felt by them.

The appointment of Judge Lurion by President Taft to a position on the Supreme bench, who is and always has been a Democrat, having been first appointed to the Federal bench by President Cleveland. He spent the best years of his life aiding the Democratic party to achieve victories in State elections in Tennessee and no doubt, if he could have had his way would have made it impossible for President Taft or any other Republican to have ever occupied the white house. With the two great parties divided within themselves upon the one question which has been considered "The One Question" by which one could determine whether a man was a Democrat or a Republican and the party in power ignoring politics altogether in appointments, it is no wonder that a fellow is found pinching himself occasional to determine "where he is at" politically. We do not believe that any political party can retain its solidity or organization in State or Nation unless it assumes full responsibility for its conduct of government by placing its own people on guard. When we voted for Mr. Taft for President, we also voted for a Republican cabinet, for members of the Federal Court and for every other officer whose appointment it is his duty to make. When we say this we do not desire to be understood as being narrow in our partisanship, but we believe that each party administration should be responsible to the people for its administration and it cannot be responsible unless it administers the affairs of government through members of its own party. There is as much sense in the President inviting Republicans of the Country to elect a Democratic House of Representatives next year as there is in placing three members of the cabinet from the opposite party.

PARDON FOR GEN. JOHNSTON.

Gov. Willson has granted a pardon to Adj. Gen. Johnston, who has been under indictment for an assault committed on Denny B. Goode, editor of the Focus. In granting the pardon before trial the Governor makes it conditional upon payment of a fine of $100, and declares he believes this to be a sufficient penalty for an offense of the kind charged against the military gentleman no matter who might be the guilty party.

It is perhaps natural that the Governor should feel disposed to be lenient in treatment of the Adj. General, and had he based his action upon consideration for the old gentleman's honorable career as a soldier and the extenuating circumstances of provocation, possibly no exception could be taken to the course he has followed.
We are inclined to think the $100 fine is enough to satisfy the demands of justice in this particular instance.

But we must differ from the Governor when he sets $100 as the limit of penalty to be exacted when an individual beats up an editor who has tramped upon his toes by some functionary displeasing to his vanity.
In behalf of the craft we protest against the persons of editors being held so cheaply by the Governor of the State. It is no crime to call a man a peacock and Mr. Goode narrowly escaped most serious injury from his assault for this trivial offense. We can conceive of an occasion arising when we might deem it our public duty to call a man a peacock or a node. If he followed the application of these zoological epithets by a violent demonstration in which our corporal feelings suffered, we would expect the court and the Governor to estimate the worth of those feelings at more than a paltry $100.

Mr. Goode is properly surprised, we think, at the action of the Governor.
Whether he is wise in instituting a damage suit is a matter entirely personal to himself. We have no opinion to express. But we feel that the bond of sympathy which exists between newspaper men demands a demurrer.
The Adjutant General does not gain credit by thus seeking to escape the consequences of his own rash conduct.
He brought his uniform into disrepute by violating the law he is charged with maintaining, and it would have been the part of courage and manhood to take his medicine, like the brave soldier he has always been considered, without flinching.—Louisville Herald.

GEN. JOHNSTON

IS PARDONED

And Editor Denny B. Goode Will File $50,000 Damage Suit.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 13.—On hearing that Governor Willson had granted a pardon to Adjutant General P.
F. Johnston, under indictment in Jefferson county for striking Denny B.
Goode, editor of the Focus, provided General Johnston pay a fine of $100, Mr. Goode gave the following statement: "I was advised by persons who are familiar with the Governor's pardoning proclivities that he would probably pardon General Johnston from a jail sentence, but I could not believe that he would issue a pardon before trial.

"Governor Willson's pardon forces me into the attitude of filing a damage suit. If the Governor prevents me from getting justice in the criminal courts, he fortunately is powerless to grant a pardon in a civil trial."

Mr. Goode, after a conference with his attorneys, announced that he would file a suit for damages for $50,000 against General Johnston.

The Paramount Issue.

Governor Harmon regards the Tariff as does Mr. Bryan, the paramount issue, and the latter calls on the voters to weight well the fact that the only time his party won in a Presidential election, in the past generation, was when Tariff "reform" was the issue.
The farmers have not forgotten the "reform" tinkering. The four years of that Tariff is well remembered by the foreigners, who do nothing to pay our taxes. They had the markets of this nation devoted, and the loss to American farmers in sheep and wool in the State of Ohio during the Cleveland administration was $14,153,116.
The loss to the farmers of the Republic on sheep husbandry was $60,- 529,841. Governor Harmon and Mr.
Bryan are on record as adherents of the ideals and policies of the author of the Declaration of Independence, yet they are recreant to the patriotic, sane, Protective declarations of that distinguished statesman. Perhaps the ablest Democrat in the National legislature, especially in the Senate is Mr. Raynor, of Maryland, and he predicts that the new Tariff will not provide sufficient income. Certain Munchausens have averred that the Republican party was committed to lower the Tariff. Mr. Bryan is fair and says that there was no promise to lower the Tariff; if there was the intention "to lower the rates the word "reduce" would have been used instead of revise.—Wauzeon (O) "Republican."

Defeating the Will of Congress.

The attempt of the railroads, by increasing freight rates, to take all of the advantage Congress sought to give to California lemon growers through additional Tariff duties, has been temporarily halted by an injunction from the United States Circuit Court. The question will now await the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and it may take a year or even longer before a decision is reached, though it is adverse to the lemon growers they will have to pay the increased rates, and they have given a hard fight effect.

The sympathy of the public will certainly be with the orange and lemon growers. Congress increased the duties to help them. No complaint of insufficient freight rates was heard at that time. The orange growers were complaining of an excessive charge by the railroads in their rate of $1.15 for oranges, while they charged only $1 for lemons, and an appeal had been made to the Interdress. When the new Tariff act took effect the railroads raised the rate on lemons, so as to take all of the benefit of the increased Tariff.

Congress had no thought of increasing the Tariff to benefit the railroads, and such greed, for it can hardly be called by any other name, should be repressed. In 1907 $4,254,- 230 in value of lemons were imported. That clearly shows an insufficient Tariff rate, and the increase was made. But if the railroads have their way the importers will be in the same favored position as before.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds his cows for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

A KISS SALE CALLED OFF.

Plan to Lift Debt of Temple Emmanuel Halted.

Press Agent Accused of Perfidy and Misrepresentation by Young Women.

Kisses will not serve as a lever to lift the burden of debt from Temple Emmanuel. The wisdom of the elders, supported by a loud and general protest from Jewish rabbis throughout the city, who were shocked at such an "enormity," has resulted in a reconsideration of the original plan by those who have in charge the bazaar to be held at West Side Turner Hall. The press agent, whoever he is, has been accused of perfidy and of misrepresentation by the young women who were to have lifted up their lips as a rosy sacrifice, and altogether things are in a pretty chaotic state.

The press agent said that kisses—real kisses, not the candy sort—would be sold at prices ranging from 50 cents to $2.50, the price to depend upon the ardor and length of them, and that all who came with the required amount of money might be saved. In order to put a stamp of truth upon his announcement he furnished the names of five out of the 25 young women who were supposed to have acquired to the scheme so that the church might have funds, Mrs. Lulu Mayer of 2923 Clarendon avenue, he said, had first conceived the idea.

But behold the result of the publicity which this unusual bazaar received. Every young woman whose name was mentioned in the original article has been pestered with constant telephone calls since that evil hour. The friends of the young women were horrified—that is, some of them were—and others wanted to be certain that they could purchase tickets. There was a general scramble for places on the waiting list.

Prominent Jewish clergymen let it be known that the idea was most objectionable and not to be tolerated, and pressure was brought to bear upon those who had gotten up the bazaar and upon Dr. Felix A. Levy of Temple Emanuel, Dr. Emil G. Hirsch disapproval in unmeasured terms and did not hesitate to say so. Other prominent Jews were as outspoken. The result was that a meeting was held, at which it was decided to withdraw from the program "The Kiss Sale."

Some of the girls whose names had been mentioned were most fretful when they learned that their names had appeared in print in connection with the matter. Miss Florence Guggenheim, 6006 Michigan avenue, was one of these.

"I don't care what others think," she said, "but some of my friends actually believed it, and naturally they were horrified. They have been calling me up almost continuously. I was very angry, of course."

"Did I intend to sell kisses? Why, of course not. No decent girl would do such a thing. I consented to sell flowers only."

Others Must Make Good by Dec. 21.

The proprietors of this paper desire to place it upon a cash basis by the first of January 1910. We have been carrying many subscribers for years without any pay whatever for their subscriptions. No other business enterprise would do this and it is not right that we should longer continue this policy. It has grown to be a custom of country newspapers to continue sending the publication to subscribers until it is ordered stopped or amount delinquent is paid, and subscribers to this class of papers have grown to expect this kind of treatment. Formerly it did not cost so much to publish a country newspaper, but now with the increase in wages and cost of paper and all the materials which enter into the make up of a modern newspaper, the loss to the publication of only a limited number of delinquent subscriptions takes away all the profit which should be earned by those who make the investment and furnish the hard work necessary to sustain a country newspaper. Besides, the postoffice regulations now prohibit sending of this class of mail to persons who are as much as one year in arrears. We do not expect to make this change without giving through notice to our readers and those of our subscribers who receive the paper through the postoffices of Centertown, Fordsville, Fordville R. F. D. No. 1, Fordville, R. F. D. No. 2, Narrows, Narrows R. F. D. No. 1, Narrows, R. F. D. No. 2, Dundee, Barretts Ferry, Horse Branch, Balzertown, Renfrow, Olaton, Olaton R. F. D. SISTER AND BROTHER LIVING IN COAL HOUSE

Case of Very Pitiable Nature Is Brought to Light In Owensboro.

Owensboro, Dec. 15.—The investigation of distress calls made on the city during the past week has revealed a few cases of a very pitiable nature, the most noticeable of which is perhaps that of a feeble minded man about twenty-two years of age and his sister who live in a wretched hotel near the American Tobacco company.

The case was brought to the notice of the city officials by a doctor living in that locality and when the matter was looked into by the mayor, he found the brother and sister living in a coal house and using a heap of rags for a bed.

The woman is in poor health and an effort will be made to provide some way of caring for her. She will perhaps be sent to the hospital or to the Mary Kendall home.

When this was suggested the man said that he was opposed to it, as he thought "a poor home was better than no home."

The most urgent needs of these people were supplied at once and arrangements will be made to permanently relieve their destitute condition.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

The Apples.

"Do you know what you are eating?" said the doctor to the girl.

"An apple, of course."

"You are eating," said the doctor, "albumen, sugar, gum, malic acid, gallic acid fiber, water and phosphorus."

"I hope these things are good. They sound charming."

"Nothing could be better. You ate, I observed, rather too much meat at dinner. The malic acid of apples neutralizes the excess of chalky matter caused by too much meat and thereby helps to keep you young. Apples are good for your complexion; their acids drive out the noxious matters which cause skin eruptions. They are good for your brain, which those same noxious matters, if retained, render sluggish, moreover, the acids of the apple diminish the acidity of the stomach that comes with some forms of indigestion. The phosphorus, of which apples contain a larger percentage than any other fruit or vegetable, renews the essential nervous matter of the brain and spinal column. Oh, the incidents were not wrong when they esteemed the apple the food of the gods—the magic power of youth of which the gods resorted when they felt themselves growing old and feeble. I think I'll have an apple," concluded the doctor.

Jewels in Hotel Safes.

A woman walked up to the counter of a fashionable hotel and asked for a package of valuables which was in the safe.

"If I had not wanted one particular thing I suppose I should have left the package where it was for another three years," she said to the clerk.

"Yes," said the clerk in answer to a question after the woman left, "that packet had really been in our safe for three years. Why, we have all sorts of valuable papers, jewelry and even money that are entrusted to our keeping for years at a time. People seem to prefer a hotel safe to a safety deposit vault. One reason, perhaps, is that it costs nothing. Another is that the standard of hotel clerks has improved.

"It is astonishing the amount of jewelry that people keep in hotel safes. Of course, the owners have originally shipped in the hotel, but they go away, leaving their valuables, and I have known such persons to be gone as much as two years and never make an inquiry about their property in that time."

"To show you how much confidence people have in hotels and their employees I might mention that the other day a man came in here and put four $1,000 bills in an envelope, wrote his name on the latter and asked me to put it in the safe. Not long ago another man actually did the same thing with seven $10,000 bills."

The clerks of several other hotels talked in a similar strain without any outside suggestion.

"I'll bet I have handled more than a million dollars worth of jewelry to-day," said one. "Look here," and he opened the safe and piled six or eight big jewelry cases on the counter, but hurriedly put them back. "In one of those I know there is over $200,000 worth, and what I showed you was only a few of what the safe contains."

Women Who Are Envid.

Those attractive women who are lovely in the face, form and temper are the envy of many, who might like them. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation or kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. For all such, Electric Bitters work wonders. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth velvety skin, lovely complexion. Many charming women owe their health and beauty to them. 50c at all druggists.

Choosing a Christmas Present.

When you make a present of a periodical to a friend or family you are really selecting a companion to influence them for good or ill during a whole year. If the acquaintances of your sons and daughters were to talk to them about as some periodicals talk to them silently, how quickly you would forbid the companionship! In the one case as in the other, the best course is to supplant the injurious with something equally attractive and at the same time "worth while." A food can be wholesome and utterly distasteful. Reading can be made so, too. But The Youth's Companion not only nourishes the mind, but delights it, just like that ideal human associate whom you would choose. The Youth's Companion fills that place now in more than a half million homes. Can you not think of another family in which it is not now known where it would be joyfully welcomed?

If the $1.75 for the 1910 Volume is sent now, the new subscriber will be entitled to all the remaining issues of 1909; also The Companion's "Vendian" Calendar for 1910, lithographed in thirteen colors and gold.

A Thrilling Rescue.

How Bert R. Lean, of Cheney, Wash., was saved from a frightful death is a story to thrill the world. A hard cold," he writes, "brought on a desperate lung trouble that baffled all expert doctors here. Then I paid $10 to $15 a visit to a lung specialist in Spokane, who did not help me. Then I went to California, but without benefit. At last I used Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me and now I am as well as ever." For Lung Trouble, Bronchitis, Coughs and Colds, Asthma, Crup and Whooping Cough its supreme. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Express Companies Rake off.

If further proof were needed to sustain the charge that the express companies demanded enormous tolls for the service they perform, Wells Fargo, one of the old time express companies, furnishes that plain proof. It has just arranged for a dividend of 300 per cent to its shareholders to be distributed just before Christmas. This company has eight millions of stock outstanding and, according to its last annual report, earned 58 per cent on it, and now has on hand in investments and cash some 22 million dollars. In a single day the stock advanced more than $100 a share and has sold as high as $520. Wall street believes that "similar melons are to be cut" by the American, while the fatness in the crib of the Adams express company is known to all. It is generally agreed that these three corporations form the three reasons why farmers and the public in general do not get parcel post.

Perhaps it is a happy augury that the Wells Fargo distribution of profits comes just at this time coincident with the convening congress. It will wake up some of the moribund federal legislators and those with glazed eyes; it will send a shiver down the back of some who are friendly with the express companies now that the Bennett postal bill is again at the front. This bill has been described in these columns. In brief, it provides for a parcel post, packages 1x6x12 inches and one pound in weight for 1 cent, larger packages up to one half cubic foot and 11 pounds weight for 5 cents, etc. Let's pepper our representatives in congress with letters, postals and telegrams demanding the prompt passage into law of the Bennett postal bill H R 10762.—Mayfield Mirror.

The Truth of History.

Estill Guffy is dead and in his grave, and his faults, if any, should be written in the sands, and his virtues on the tablets of glory.

The Oklahoma City Times undertakes to insinuate that Estill Guffy was present and perhaps knew the real culprits who killed William Goebel. The Times says he was Assistant Secretary of State under Powers when the shot was fired, and by indirection hints that he left the State to keep from testifying. Now, as a matter of history, Estill Guffy was Assistant Secretary of State under Governor Bradley, four years before, and resigned that position in 1897 to take a position in Louisville under the Surveyor of the Port. He was not in Frankfort during the Goebel trouble, and had no more to do with it than a man who has never been in the State. The Oklahoma exchange goes out of its way to cast aspersions on the memory of one who was an open fighter in his life and who met his death without a quiver.—[Bowling Green Messenger.

Last Friday evening the Hartford Fire Department again distinguished itself in saving the house of Mrs. J. B. Foster at the corner of Clay and Washington streets. The fire originated in a lumber room upstairs and was caused from burning paper cast into the fire below and falling down a flue among some rubbish in the unused fire place up stairs. It had gained considerable headway before being discovered and it was very difficult to subdue, owing to the dense smoke which made it almost impossible to get near the fire. The patent fire extinguishers again demonstrated their usefulness and quite a number of our citizens deserve great credit for the bravery displayed on this as on similar occasions. The loss to Mrs. Foster is about $100 on building and contents, with no insurance.
